Add the segments $a$ and $b$ on a horizontal line.

Subtract the segment $b$ from the segment $a$, on a horizontal line.

Multiply the segment $a$ by four, on a horizontal line.

Divide the segment $AB$ in two equal parts, drawing a perpendicular bisector.

Divide the segment $AB$ in five equal parts, using the Thales' theorem.